

Software License Agreement

By installing and/or using this software and/or its copyrighted contents you agree to the following:

- 1) The contents of this software product are the copyrighted property of Pyramid Educational Consultants, Inc. and subject to all laws regarding the protection copyrights.
- 2) The use of the contents contained in this software product is licensed to the original purchaser, hereafter called "licensee." If the original purchaser is not a natural person, then the original purchaser shall designate one natural person as the licensee.
- 3) The use of the contents contained in this software product is licensed for installation and use on one computer that is owned or in the constructive control of the licensee. Only one natural person at a time may use or have access to the contents of this software product that is installed on this computer.
- 4) The licensee may designate up to four additional natural persons, in the constructive control of the licensee, as "named users" who may use the contents contained in this software product provided they agree to be bound by all terms and conditions of this software license.
- 5) The licensee may designate a different named user to replace an existing named user once every twelve months starting from the original date of purchase of this software product. Additional users may be added for an additional fee per user by contacting Pyramid Educational Consultants, Inc.
- 6) The original licensee may not sell or transfer this license to any other entity.

Additional Information

The preceding is our basic software license agreement. It may not meet the needs of all prospective purchasers, licensees, or named users. If you are interested in a modified software license agreement that will better fit your needs, please contact Pyramid Educational Consultants, Inc.

Revised October 28, 2009